

Meet the team

Geeta Paul

HEAD OF PDC

Geeta Paul brings over three decades of teaching expertise, having worked with both international and Indian curricula across Singapore and India. Her diverse teaching portfolio includes subjects such as Biology, Global Perspectives, Mathematics, Chemistry, and Textiles. She has served as Head of Department, Science and for the past thirteen years, she has served as the Head of High School, demonstrating her leadership and commitment to education. She holds degrees in Science and Education from India and a Certificate in Educational Management from the University of Bath, U.K. She has played a pivotal role in conceptualising and initiating programs at Aditi. Geeta is also the CAIE Liaison.

Anamika Vajpai

Anamika Vajpai, a graduate of Columbia University, Teacher's College, holds a graduate degree in education with a dual specialisation in general and special education. She brings with her fourteen years of Elementary School teaching experience both in schools in New York, USA as well as in India to the Professional Development Centre. She has worked as an Assistant Coordinator at Aditi, utilising her leadership skills to manage and advance the professional outlook of her team. She is also a Cambridge Programme Leader for Educational Leadership. Always endeavouring to empower others, Anamika brings to the Centre a wealth of knowledge along with a passion for learning and teaching so as to best inspire continuous personal and professional growth among teachers.

Preetha S Kumar

Preetha S Kumar has over 14 years of work experience - first as a radio presenter, then a journalist and then as a teacher of Sociology. She is currently a Research and Editorial Associate in the Professional Development Centre. She carries her love for learning from the newsroom to the classroom and from there to professional development, willing to do her best in order to give every content and context the right perspective. Preetha is a university first-rank holder in M.A. Sociology and is currently pursuing her doctoral research at the Department of Sociology, University of Mumbai.

Aims & Initiatives

AIMS

- Create and support innovative initiatives (in teaching and learning) throughout the school.
- Facilitate a wide range of opportunities for continuous professional development and provide regular support and follow-up.
- Apply for external grants that may be available that support innovation and oversee their utilisation.
- Inspire and enable out-of-the-box thinking for deliberately diverse groups of teachers and leaders.
- Continue to assist with subject-specific workshops conducted by Cambridge Assessment International Examinations.
- To ensure that spaces and opportunities are created for teachers, departments and sections to try new things, helping to celebrate such innovative impulses and help make them part of the culture of the school.
- Help innovative faculty members become trainers through mentorship and coaching.
- Meet regularly with heads of the various schools to ensure regular and meaningful reflection about where each school is headed in teaching and learning.
- Facilitate meaningful audits, of teaching and learning, across the school and identify action points.
